Description:

The C.A. Roberts Copy

Fine large railroad map of Argentina, published at time when the country was rapidly growing with European immigrants and European businesses were looking for commercial opportunities for investment.

The map includes the name C.A. Roberts embossed into the front cover in gilt. Given the custom presentation and time period, this map is likely the C.A. Roberts who was employed as a senior manager by the Great Western Railway in the first part of the 20th Century.

The present map, published in London, meticulously details Argentina's railroad infrastructure, with large inset maps covering the area around Buenos Aires, the wider Rio de La Plata area and Bahia Blanca.

The map legend details the various railroad lines (trochas) and boundaries with specific color codes, with the size in parenthesis noting the gauge of the line). Here is the translated and color-coded list based on
