Description:

Striking full-color, gold-heightened example of Goos' general chart of the Baltic Sea. The map extends from the coasts of Finland to Scandinavia, Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia, Poland, and Denmark. This map was originally published by Pieter Goos in Amsterdam in 1669 as part of an atlas of global sea charts.

The map is striking for its simple yet beautiful nature. It includes a wealth of sea-faring information, with depth soundings and the locations of shoals shown. The names of various regions are provided, and coastal towns are named. Decorative ornaments include seafaring vessels and various compass roses. The magnificent coats of arms of Sweden can be found in the upper left.

Detailed Condition:

Nice hand-coloring, heightened in gold. Even toning.
