Description:

Celebrating The Sea Creatures of the World

A striking map of the world on Cassini's projection by Heinrich Scherer.

California is shown as an Island. Nova Hollandia is now clearly separated from Nova Guinea, although without a Southern Coastline. Northwest and Northeast passages are shown. New Zealand appears, although only a part of its coastline is known.

The map is filled with birds, animals and sea creatures and ringed by 8 windheads and scientific models of the earth.

A fine example of this striking map.
