Description:

Detailed plan of Cagliari, on the island of Sardinia, from the Munster's Cosmographia, one of the most influential cartographic works of the 16th century.

Cagliari was the capital of the island kingdom at the time, and remains the most important city on the island. The city is here shown within its old walls, with its many ancient buildings saddling wide streets. At the base of the map is the city's protected port, where two ships are anchored. Fields can be seen behind the city. Many buildings are lettered, with the key partially present below the image. The text below the map is in Latin.
