Description:

A wonderful example of the 1689 first state of the Nolin-Coronelli map of South America, published in Paris in a collaboration between J.B. Nolin and Coronelli.

The map provides fine up-to-date details, including much of the information found on Coronelli's monumental globes constructed for Louis XIV.

The map features a profusion of engraved annotations and fine internal details.

Detailed Condition:

Original hand-color in outline.
