Description:

Rare map of America first issued by Jan Jansson in 1623 with 4 sets of decorative panels. The first edition of the map was issued separately and is known in only 1 example. This is the rare 3rd state of the map, first issued in 1632 w/o the lower panel. While at first blush the map appears similar to Blaeu's America, this example includes views of North America, including the Poeiock Village in North Carolina & views of Carolina and St. Augustine. The penninsular California is retained, with the extended Northwest Coast including definitive place names north of 40 degrees. The East Coast of North America is rich with Indian names. The polar region inset is derived from Blaeu's wall map of 1608, as are the towns illustrated along the top. All states of this map are very rare. The map is easily distinguished by the chip in the upper right corner, which first appears in the 4 panel 1630 edition. An attractive example in full color. Several expert restorations along the right side of the map, but in all, a visually stunning example of this great rarity. Burden 207. One of the most sought after of all Dutch maps of America.
