Description:

Fire Insurance Atlas for Santa Fe, New Mexico

Rare complete Sanborn Map Company fire insurance atlas of the City of Santa Fe, capital of the State of New Mexico, first issued in January 1930, with corrections up to March 1935, based upon the "New Report" paste down on the first page.

The atlas consists of 22 pages, including key map and index and 21 numbered maps, geo-referenced on the key sheet.

The maps show Santa Fe in minute detail, naming streets, with buildings colored coded to identify the type of building construction for each map, with many of the buildings also noting ownership information and size. Notably for the history of Santa Fe's built environment, buildings of adobe construction are noted. While frequently oriented with North at the top, the map orientations are irregular.

Rarity

Sanborn atlases are rare on the market.

This is the first example of the Santa Fe, New Mexico atlas we have seen (1992-2024).

Provenance: Swann, December 2024.
