Description:

Unrecorded example of this seminal map, widely regarded as one of the most influential maps in the history of American Cartography.

The US now extends westward to the Mississippi, and the boundaries of the various European colonies are identified in various outline colors. The mapping of the Texas, the Gulf Coast and the Mississippi Valley are all of great cartographic importance. Florida is shown as an archipelago. This unique example was issued after the last known state identified by Tooley to claim to be the Geographer the the King.
