Description:

Revolutionary War Battle Map -- The Only Battle Fought In Vermont

Nice example of William Faden's plan of the Battle of Hubbardton, showing the action between the British and American Troops on July 7, 1777.

The map shows the battle between the American army retreating from Ticonderoga and British Forces in pursuit under Simon Fraser. While the British prevailed, the American flight was largely successful in preserving the main American forces.

The map is part of a suite of maps depicting General Burgoyne's campaign against the American forces in 1777. Beginning with the capture of Fort Ticonderoga, the British pursued the American forces southward in the summer of 1777.

States of the Map

This is State 2 of the map, which is by far the most common. The map is known in 3 states:

- State 1: Separately published
- State 2: Included with five other maps and plans in General Burgoyne's State of the Expedition from
