Description:

Important early map showing much of the US south of the Great Lakes and extending east to include much of Texas. The Mississippi is shown far west of its true location, with an unusual southeasterly course. Extensive Indian tribes named. The map is based upon the 1657 map of Nicholas Sanson, as well as earlier nomenclature in Chaves map of Florida. Du Val's primary deviations are in the Texas and Mississippi Drainage regions, where he names the Rio del Spiritu Santu, Mar Pequeno, Rio de Canaveral and other new details. The French claims to Florida are evident. A seminal map for collectors of Texas, the South, Florida and the Mid-Continent regions of the US. Cumming 57, Burden 352 (State 2), Pasterneau pp135-7 & 162-5.
