Description:

Striking full color example of the map of Venezuela from Ogilby's English translation of De Nieuwe en Onbekende Wereld published by Arnold Montanus, which was used by John Ogilby as the basis of his Complete History of America. The cartography of the region is quite primitive. The map extends from Coquibocoa to the Orinoque River, centered on Bariquicemento and Cape de Curiacao. Large cartouche, compass rose and sailing ships and vignettes of animals in the image and in a second cartouche. A gorgeous full color example, with wide margins.
