Description:

This detailed 1892 map of Ohio by G.W. & C.B. Colton & Co. showcases the state's counties, townships, and railroads. The map is intricately bordered with floral designs and highlights the development of the state's transportation network at the time. A notable feature is the inset of the state capitol building located in Columbus. The population table on the right-hand side provides valuable demographic information from the period. The map is colored in a vibrant palette.

Detailed Condition:
Lithograph with hand-color on delicate wove paper. Vibrant original hand-color. Without booklet, this map presents a nice flat conformation. Minor tears supported on verso with thin bits of archival tissue.
