Description:

Rare double hemisphere map of the world by Jollain, based upon an earlier map of Hondius from 1617. Several similar maps were produced in Paris by Marquette, Berey and Boisseau, but each of these is very rare. Includes engraved images of compasses, celestial spheres, sailing ships, sea monsters, and Neptune embellish this rare early world map. First state. Shirley 358. Narrow margins and minor restorations at the fold. A wonderful rarity, this edition post-dates the 1669 edition referenced by Tooley, with the date removed from the title, clearly post-dating the 1669 state referenced by Shirley and with evidence of a plate crack near the centerfold. Wide margins and deckled edges. A near flawless example of this rare map. Tooley 354 (referencing the Berey map and later states).
