Description:

Early English map of Southern part of the British Colonies in America, New France, Louisiana, the Caribbean and Central America.

The map is a landmark for two different reasons, being the first American map to appear in Gentleman's Magazine and the first map of America engraved by Emanuel Bown. The detail of the map is quite remarkable and the engraving quite refined. The annotations and detail in the map are also excellent for the period.

Detailed Condition:

Minor repairs along the top margin and minor misfolding. Some loss of neatline on right side.
