Description:

Rare early map of a portion of the Midwest and regions to the East, from Lake Michigan to Kentucky and Virginia to Maine.

Includes a curiously misshaped Ohio and a massive Indiana, which extends from the Ohio River to Lake Huron and Lake Michigan, incorporating all of what would become Michigan (except the Upper Peninsula) and Illinois. The detail in Virginia is also noteworthy for the period. This is the largest treatment of Indiana we have ever seen. Issued in the year after Indiana's Statehood, with no mention of the Territory of Illinois or the Territory of Michigan.

Only the 2nd time we have offered the map between 1993 and 2009.
