Scarce and highly decorative and detailed map of West Africa, published by the Heirs of Johann Baptiste Homann in Nuremberg.

The map extends from Cape Blanc and Senegal to Guinea Inferior and the Caongo and Barbela Rivers. Also extends inland to including Ghana Lake on the Niger River.

This is without doubt one of the most detailed maps of the region during the mid 18th Century and is embellished with a stunning large vignette showing a native village scene, with a key at the bottom of the map identifying the various peoples and styles of habitats.
