Description:

Detailed map of the United States, published on the eve of the American Civil War.

The map predates the establishment of West Virginia and a number of the Western Territories.

Colorado Territory and Nevada Territory are newly named, with Arizona Territory appearing below New Mexico in the so-called Baylor Line configuration.

Idaho does not yet appear and Nevada is in its smallest (earliest) configuration.

The map is perhaps notable for the concentration of Indian names in the west--more than most maps of this type.
