Rare First State of Jo Mora's whimsical view of Yellowstone National Park.

First state of Jo Mora's rare map of Yellowstone. The rights to the map were assigned to J.E. Haynes, the proprietor of the Haynes Stores in Yellowstone, in 1935, and re-issued with a revised date at the top right.

Rumsey notes:

Humorous uncolored pictorial map, with illustrations in borders and compass rose in the lower center. Includes dedication note: "This carte is cordially dedicated to Horace M. Albright, Director U.S. National Park Service ..." It shows many humorous scenes, tourist attractions and activities common at the time in the park. Shows railroads, roads, trails, and many landmarks. Relief shown pictorially and by spot heights.

The map is scarce on the market. This is the first example of the first state we have offered for sale.
