Description:

The First GLO Map of the United States

Fine map of the United States, published by the General Land Office in 1864.

This is the earliest issue of a general United States map by the GLO and the first listed in Kelsay.

The map shows the progress of the General Land Office's Surveys, primarily in California, Washington, Oregon, New Mexico, Colorado, Nebraska, Kansas and the states along the Mississippi River.

Great map of the United States from the Midwest to the West Coast, meant to accompany the Commissioner's land survey report. The map illustrates the progress of the Public Land Survey and shows land states, territories, land offices, townships, cities, forts and Indian Reservations. Also shown are extensive topographical details, wagon trails and railroad lines with their respective activation dates and proposed rail lines.

This first state of the map is quite scarce on the market -- this is the first example of the map we have handled.
