Description:

Detailed early map of the coast of Venezuela and contiguous islands (Curacao, Bonaire, Aruba, Tortuga, Trinidad, Tobago, etc.)

The map was issued 3 years after 7 of the 10 provinces of the Captaincy General of Venezuela declared its independence from Spain on July 5, 1811.

More specifically, the map was issued shortly after the campaign of 1813 established the so-called Second Republic, following the retaking of Caracas by an army led by Simon Bolivar on August 6, 1813.
