Description:

Finely colored example of Fielding Lucas' early map of Georgia, one of the rarest and most sought after early atlas maps of Georgia.

Most of the western and southern counties still do not appear and the region is dominated by Cherokee land and Lower Creeks land and by Early, Irwin and Applin counties. The southern counties include a note that the Indian claims were extinguished by the Treaty of Fort Jackson.

Includes towns, counties, roads, rivers, mountains, forts and many other early details.

Striking example of Fielding Lucas' fine work, which distinguished him as the best publisher of the era. His maps are printed on a higher quality paper than contemporary maps by Carey & Lea and demonstrate a superior engraving quality and more attractive coloring style. Lucas' maps are highly desirable and increasingly scarce.

A nice example of this highly desirable map, issued by one of the most important early American
