Fascinating map of the Southeastern part of the future United States, based largely upon Sanson's map of Florida from 1657.

This rare variant edition has text below the map--the first such example we have ever seen.

The map is intended to illustrate the expedition of Ferdinand de Soto in 1534, based upon his original accounts.

Fine decorative cartouche.

The map illustrated an early account of the New World published by Vander Aa, one of the most prolific compilers of information on the early explorations to America, Asia and Africa.
