Description:

Including The Antipodes of the principal European Cities in the Southern Hemisphere

Striking double hemisphere map of the world, revised to include the recent discoveries of Captain James Cook, La Perouse and Vancouver.

The map includes tracts of European voyages in the Pacific and elsewhere. Included are the notes of the voyages of Tasman, Le Maire, Vancouver, Cook, MacKenzie, St. Louis, Vaisseaux, Anson, Cabadonga and others.

While many of the major discoveries in the Pacific are now shown, including a relatively accurate New Zealand, Australia and NW Coast of America, the details in these regions are far from accurately refined.

A curious coastal outline is shown in the Antarctic and South Pacific (western hemisphere), mirroring the geography of Europe (The Antipodes of the principal European Cities).
