Description:

Rare double page color printed image of "Prominent Places" in the San Diego area, which appeared in The WASP magazine.

The views include:

- Hotel Josephine (Coronado), with Coronado Railroad in the foreground
- Chadbourne's New Building (4th & C Street)
- San Diego Abstract Co. Building (4th & D Street) (now Broadway)
- The Florence Hotel
- Horton House and Park
- First National Bank (5th & E Street)

The Florence Hotel opened on January 24, 1884. It was located in Florence Heights on Fir Street between 3rd and 4th. It boasted of indoor plumbing and offered views overlooking the bay.

Delane & Reif, who apparently served as architects for Chadbourne's New Building, were active in San Diego between about 1887 and 1890.

The Wasp was an American weekly satirical magazine based in San Francisco.

With the following name changes, the magazine ran from August 5, 1876, to April 25, 1941:

- The Wasp, August 5, 1876 - January 20, 1877.
- The Illustrated Wasp, January 27 - September 22, 1877.
