Attractive colorful bird's-eye view map of the Gulf Coast between Apalachicola and New Orleans issued to promote the routes of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad.

The map shows how travelers of the 1920s could access the vacation destinations of the northern Gulf of Mexico using the L&NRR routes and their connections.

The pamphlet is fairly scarce. We are aware of one other example having been on the market. Apparently no copies are recorded in OCLC.

Multi-fold pamphlet joined with staples at the centerfold. Very minor wear at original vertical folds. VG to VG+
