Description:

Fine original antique map of northwestern Germany, showing the region from Bremen in the northeast down to Cologne in the southeast. This attractive map was published by Nicolas Sanson in 1659 in Paris.

The map is highly detailed, showing regional borders, rivers, cities, forests, and more. Towns appearing on the map include Bremen, Arnhem, Nijmegen, Duysburg, Essen, Hamburg, and Maastricht. Sanson was one of the foremost engravers in France in the 17th century, and his maps are known for their simple but attractive layout and extremely detailed geography.

Detailed Condition:

Original hand-color in outline. Minor centerfold toning.
