Description:

Hannibal's Italian Campaign

Interesting historical map of Italy and the Mediterranean Coastal regions, illustrating in red the route of Hannibal through Italy and the Coastal Mediterranean regions, following his crossing of the Alps.

During the Second Punic War, Hannibal crossed the Alps in 218 BC. The crossing is one of the most celebrated achievements of any military force in ancient warfare.

Hannibal led the Carthaginian army over the Alps and into Italy, directly confronting the Roman Republic, and thereby bypassing Roman and allied land garrisons, and the Roman Naval forces.
