Description:

One of the Most Significant Maps of Indiana from the Second Half of the 19th Century.

A handsome example of the Colton firm's large folding map of the State of Indiana, first issued by J.H. Colton in 1852 and published intermittently until at least 1877 by G.W. & C.B. Colton.

The map includes exceptional township and range information, cities, railroads (complete and proposed), county boundaries, etc.

The vibrant color seen in the map was characteristic of these large maps (sometimes called the "Sectional Map" series) issued by the Coltons in the 1860s and '70s.

Individual years of the map are scarce, and the map itself is difficult to find in such an attractive condition.
