

Le Royaume d'Angleterre distingue en ses provinces . . . 1693

Stock#:	93509
Map Maker:	Jaillot
Date:	1693
Place:	Paris
Color:	Outline Color
Condition:	VG
Size:	23 x 30.5 inches
Price:	$ 475.00

Description:

Alexis Hubert Jaillot's map of England and Wales, published in 1693, is a stunning example of French cartography from the late 17th century.

The map is colored in outlined by counties. At the center of the map is a decorative cartouche, which features an elaborate coat of arms in an allegorical scene. The cartouche is richly detailed, with intricate scrollwork, floral designs, and a banner that reads "Je Main Tiendray" (I Will Maintain), the motto of the Orange-Nassau family, who patriarch, William of Orange, was then King of England. The coat of arms features a lion and a unicorn, the symbols of England and Scotland respectively, along with various other emblems and motifs.

The map itself is beautifully drawn, with carefully rendered coastlines, rivers, and other topographical

Barry Lawrence Ruderman
Antique Maps Inc.

7407 La Jolla Boulevard
La Jolla, CA 92037

www.raremaps.com

(858) 551-8500
blr@raremaps.com

---

Le Royaume d'Angleterre distingue en ses provinces . . . 1693

features. Cities and towns are marked with tiny symbols.

Detailed Condition: