Description:

Remarkably detailed map of the United States, filled with historical and geopolitical details. Most notable is DeVallieres Grant, above the White River and Cherokee Settlement in Western Arkansas on what would become the Oklahoma Border. This is the only time we have ever seen this Grant on a map. Also shown are Texas, with a note regarding the Treaty with Spain in 1819, Lawrence and Cape Girardeau Districts, the Illinois, New Jersey and Wabash Company lands on the Mississippi River in Illinois, which is pushed west off Lake Michigan. Colonel Simmes Donation Lands from the Commonwealth of Virginia and the Ohio Company, Army Lands and Seven Ranges are shown in Ohio. The Lands Reserved for Virginia Troops and North Carolina Troops are shown in Western Kentucky and Tennessee. The border settled by the 1818 treaty between the US and England is shown west of Lake Superior. Carver's Grant is shown in NW Territory. Indian Notes on the Sioux meeting grounds and where they collect rocks to make pipes are shown. The Division Line with the Creeks of 1765 in Northern Florida is shown. The boundary lines in western Virginia and North Carolina established in 1770 and 1795 are shown. The 20 Leagues line appears off the eastern seaboard. An Anglo-centric configuration of Maine takes a large bite out of the western portion of the state. Many forts, Indian Tribes, settlements and other notes are shown. Perhaps the most interesting and unusually detailed map of the period we have ever seen.
